

This, Our Nation

by Mackey W. Hill

We shall endeavor to present a brief rundown on some domestic and foreign policies that are evolving before our eyes.

That which will be making news in congress for the next few months is the development of the Republican legislative program. A few days ago the administration's even-point legislative program was revealed. The Republican command is hopeful of its enactment with a minimum of delay that adjournment may be a possibility by early summer. Their program contains the following: organization of the executive departments and agencies, the passage of House appropriation bills by May 15, statehood for Hawaii, amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act, limited extension of controls, extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, action to simplify customs procedures, the extension of aid to schools, the determination of the ownership of tideland oil properties, and the change in the government of the District of Columbia by the addition of two more commissions to be concerned with its affairs.

Conspicuous for its absence from this list was the proposed income tax cut. But this matter is already under consideration in the House Ways and Means committee. Without a clear and specific request from the President or information from the Treasury, the Republican majority on this committee pushed through their proposal of a 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes to be effective next June. Whether this could upset the administration's fiscal policy remains to be seen.

Consistent with the warnings given to Russian planes to stop flying over Japanese territory there is a ten-minute clash February 19 between American planes and Russian-type planes. American requests for the planes to land were ignored and were met with the challenge of gun fire. As a result the encounter that followed, one of the Red planes apparently was hit, for it retired from the title in smoke. Meanwhile, Britain continues to show herself disposed to join Eisenhower in savaging certain treaties that were made "in secret", such as the Yalta and Potsdam agreements.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY . . .

God has promised strength for today, but he has not promised tomorrow for our procrastination.

Don, Rosetta Reign At Valentine Formal

Don Lamm and Rosetta Ballard were crowned King and Queen of Hearts at the formal Valentine party held in the George Fox college dining hall on February 9 at 8 p. m. Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, mathematics and physics instructor, was master of ceremonies.

This event combined the associated student body formal reception for second semester and the annual Student Christian union sponsored Valentine party.

The king and queen were crowned by Norman Winters, social committee chairman of SCU. The king and queen reigned over the evening festivities which consisted of a short program including Dorothy Oppenlander at the harp and a vocal solo by Lucy Edmundson. Later a skit sponsored by the SCU and directed by Dorothy Herrick was presented; and the program was concluded by a few devotional remarks by Dean Donald McNichols.

The committee personnel included Lucy Edmundson, decorating committee head; Rosemary Ramsey, games; and Myra Sullivan, refreshments.

The room was decorated with red and white streamers hung from light to light, pale blue lights in the center, all sizes of hearts hung on the venetian blinds and on a tree painted white to represent the tree on which hearts are grown. Refreshments served were punch and cake, with after-dinner mints and nuts.

PC Graduate Signs Teaching Contract; To Be Religion Prof

Arthur O. Roberts, well-known Oregon yearly meeting personality, has signed a teaching contract for next year as assistant professor of religion at George Fox college. He will be teaching religion, philosophy, and advanced sociology.

Mr. Roberts graduated with an A.B. degree from Pacific college in 1944. In 1951, he received his B.D. degree from the Nazarene Theological seminary in Kansas City, Missouri. He expects to receive his doctor of philosophy degree in June from the Boston university school of theology where he is majoring in church history.

Formerly pastor of Everett Friends church in Washington and of the First Friends church in Kansas City, Missouri, he is currently pastoring in Grasmere, New Hampshire.

L'AMI PICTURES

Group pictures for the L'Ami will be taken Monday evening. Each student is requested to check carefully the time and place for the pictures in which he appears.

Membership in 25 Dollar Club Boosted During Living Endowment Drive Sunday

The Administrative committee members of George Fox college opened the special $25 Club living endowment drive in the Salem area last Sunday and boosted the membership in the club by 10 shares when the responses were added.

Although the first day's count was lower than expected, the committee reports excellent response from the opening services. Several additional shares are expected from these churches from those individuals who did not make a decision to join in the public service.

Churches visited Sunday were Marion, Pringle, Scotts Mills, Highland and South Salem. Paul Mills and Harlow Ankeny will both visit the Piedmont church in Portland this Sunday.

George Fox to Host State Oral Contest

The traditional state Old Line oratorical contest will be held this year at George Fox college on March 10. It is the oldest inter-collegiate speech contest in existence.

The schools that traditionally participate are Willamette university, the University of Oregon, Pacific university, the University of Portland, Linfield college, Oregon State college, Lewis and Clark college, and George Fox college.

The women's division is scheduled for 3 p. m. in Wood-Mar hall auditorium. The men will be speaking at 7 p. m. in the dining hall. A time limit of 10 minutes is set for the speeches, which are composed and memorized by the students.

The board of judges is made up of one person from each participating school.

Deputation Plan Introduced in Chapel; Students Represent School in Services

A new feature in deputation work was recently introduced to students by Paul Mills, associate professor of Bible. This was an information blank which is to be filled out each week by those students who have participated in deputation work the previous week. These information blanks require the name of the student, where he served and the type of service he performed.

On February 15, Paul Mills represented the school at Pringle and Scotts Mills Friends churches, Dean McNichols at Highland and South Salem Friends, Harlow Ankeny at Marion and John Fankhauser at Eugene. Betty Brown and Gene Comfort presented special music at Eugene and Paul Anfield spoke. Myra Sullivan and Bob Fiscus presented special music at Cherry Grove. Verdella Greene gave object lessons in both beginners' and intermediate departments at Lents Friends.

Paul Mills and Harlow Ankeny will be speaking February 22 at Piedmont Friends concerning the $25 Club which is being stressed in much deputation work at the present.

'YOU Are Responsible for Making Friends' Observes Writer

The other day I happened upon a poem in one of the church bulletins and a couple of the lines stayed with me. They ran something like this:

I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day;
I'd rather one should walk with me than merely tell the way.

Now I don't know much about philosophy or sociology, but I've found that if I want to make friends, I'm the one that has to do the making. Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "The only way to have a friend is to be one." I guess we get so wrapped up in ourselves that most of the time we forget there are others that need to be helped along the road, too. "If a man does not make new acquaintances as he passes through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair."

The best testimony that I know of is not the church, or the preacher's sermon but the life of a Christian—thoughtful, prayerful, and helpful. We pray, "Lord, lead me to some soul today" but many times the opportunity is lost because we have failed to make a friend. Maybe the making of a friendship is the leading of a blind man across the street, helping a person with his packages, or just a friendly smile to that person across the aisle in a bus. I think that making friends should be just as regular a part of our lives as brushing our teeth. It has been said that "He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare and he who has an enemy will meet him anywhere."

Sam Farmer

I think that John Greenleaf Whittier sums up the real meaning of Christian fellowship in a few short lines:

"If there be some weaker one,
Give me strength to help him on;
If a blinder soul there be,
Let me guide him nearer Thee."

Are You a Freshman?

This is the traditional freshman issue of the Crescent. Many people, as in years past, have been looking forward to reading this annual issue; some out of curiosity, some from a critical angle, some for enjoyment, some for the news content, and a few to see what the inexperienced editor can find to say.

What is a freshman? Every higher educational institution has some. Every upper-classman has been one. Freshmen are commonly appraised as creatures of which to take advantage, as perfect objects for practical jokes, and as peons for local menial labor imposed upon them by their scholastically advanced brethren. Noah Webster defines a freshman as a novice, a beginner, or tyro. Novice commonly suggests inexperience, especially in something to be done. Tyro suggests a rudimentary acquaintance, especially with something to be learned.

A freshman comes to college anticipating new experiences and relationships; he comes with enthusiasm, intellectual curiosity, and a determination to make the most of his cultural, social, and religious opportunities. He comes with zeal and with the dedication of his best efforts to the tasks and opportunities that are placed before him. However, these qualities may be lost as he begins to advance in his college training. Some of the spontaneity and conscientiousness disappears as he begins to take on the sophistication and status of an upper classman. One GFC instructor addressed the remark to one of her classes that she wished more of them had retained their freshman conscience. Yes, freshmen are green, but some of their spring-like characteristics are worth developing through the further years of academic training.

'Little Foxes Spoil the Grapes'

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much . . ." Luke 16:10.

There is a story of a vineyard so well fenced that no animal or person could break through. However, even as well fenced as it was, the little foxes dug tunnels under the fence, entered the vineyard and spoiled the grapes. From this story comes the saying, "It is the little foxes that spoil the grapes." We may be so well fenced that we can resist any big temptations but what about the loopholes where the little temptations can creep in? Too often we are tempted to think that the little things are unimportant but the big things in life are made up of the little things and if we fail in the little things, we cannot expect to succeed in the big things. Even though we may only consider not doing the little things, it is well to remember that what we think usually expresses itself in what we do. By taking the attitude that what we think doesn't matter, we are squelching our own conscience and causing harm to our own Christian life.

As long as we keep in mind the fact that as Christians we are to measure up to God's standard, not one we set up for ourselves, and that we should try to please God in everything we do, we will be safe from little temptations and the big ones as well.

Engaged

Dick Jones, sophomore, and Naomi Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Martin of Tacoma, Washington, recently revealed their engagement January 31, at her home. Naomi attends the McKinley Avenue Friends church. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Freshman Evolves Under Teachereous

A Freshman is one of the lowest types on the evolutionary ladder and is superseded by the Sophomore an aphid like creature that live off plant lice, into which category the Freshman fall.

The life of the Freshman is simple as it is expected only to exist. This creature is looked down on by the higher animals, although some of them find the Freshman highly attractive.

The particular species of this animal that is being dwelt upon is known as the Fox Freshman and is found only on 35 acres of land in western Oregon. These creatures are very rare, as there are only 35 now in existence.

As these are evolutionary animals, during the summer of each year they become extinct by the process of evolution. Occasionally there is one that fails to develop properly. By the next fall, however, there is always a new crop.

It is hard to tell the Freshman from the higher classes of Sophomore, Juniors, and Seniors by appearance and mannerisms.

If the Freshman develops properly and is not liquidated by the Teachereous (a vertebrate which is an amphibian or cold blooded animal) it will evolve into a beautiful Sophomore.

Edward Hall's Red Headed Housemother Relates Vivid Experiences of Active Life

by Bob Byrd

One of the most energetic and enthusiastic workers on our campus is Edward Hall's red headed housemother, Alice Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler's life has been devoted to helping others. Alice and her late husband, Eli Wheeler, were pastors in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and California before traveling to the Belgian Congo where they served as missionaries. After two and a half years on the field, Eli died as a result of a hunting accident.

Alice left Africa and with her two children, Elletta and Ned, returned to Kansas. Elletta is a sophomore at George Fox and Ned attends Junior high in Newberg.

Nurses training was next in her life's varied program. The Good Samaritan hospital in Phoenix, Arizona, was the scene of her education. After graduation Alice served as a private duty nurse and with the Phelps-Dodge Mining Co.

"House mothering," as a profession, was a completely new experience for Mrs. Wheeler when she arrived on our campus.

"I was kind of scared," admits Mrs. Wheeler. "I thought that at college age my charges would be young men, not boys, and should be treated as such. They have lived up to my standards—if they hadn't I'd have probably left."

"They have, however, had a little fun," Alice confides. "Once they used my new vacuum sweeper to get honey out of the walls in Edwards hall."

Mrs. Wheeler reports that she has been very impressed with the school loyalty and Christian spirit in all campus activities.

As to vitamins and other assorted pills, Alice says, "I've appreciated the students co-operation in the health program—in fact I've heard

Sermonette . . .

Moses Example of Modern Day Faith

by Arnold Lee

Moses led the children of Israel for forty years in the wilderness, and in all that time, in spite of all their murmuring, Moses never once complained to God. Rather than to allow the Israelites to perish at the judgment of God, Moses was willing to go to hell himself, to see the glory of God revealed in His children. Deuteronomy 34:10 says, "There arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face."

The Lord said, "My servant Moses is faithful in all my house." Hundreds of years before Christ came, Moses was an example of vital Christianity. His meekness and faith were unexcelled. What was the secret of his Godly life? Hebrews 11 says he endured by FAITH, because he saw Him "Who is invisible," and "he had respect unto the recompense of reward." Moses, through the eyes of faith, saw Christ, the Author of his faith. And how was his spiritual sight developed? Moses enjoyed fellowship FACE to FACE.

Do you seem to lack real faith? Perhaps you need to do some "face to face" talking with the Lord. Moses knew to whom to turn. Look to Jesus, the Author and Finisher of your faith today.

One Idaho Farmer Floats Down River

by Sam

Now they told me when I came out here from Idaho that Oregon wuz green all winter; it is, but it 'pears ta me that if it keeps on a rainin' we're all a gonna float down the Willamette river on our dorm doors.

I wuz down to the river the other day and from the looks of it, half of the land in Oregon is puttin' out ta sea. The wheat fields look more like Chinese rice paddies.

Now I don't mind wadin' swimmin' or gittin' showered with my Sunday-go-ta-meetin' clothes on, but it shore peels my spuds ta hafta keep lookin' cross-eyed ta see through the rain drops on my glasses.

Well, come to think of it, this ain't too much worse than flounderin' in snow clear up ta my suspenders back home, so if you'll 'scuse me, I'll wipe my glasses off.

Scott Clark Active as Oregon Minister; First President of Friends Bible College

By Bob Byrd

After 38 years of teaching, Scott T. Clark, instructor in Greek New Testament Epistles at GFC, says that his most enjoyable part of his work is teaching.

Mr. Clark served as president of Friends Bible college, Haviland, Kan., for 18 years. Later he returned to this school and taught for more years. He has also taught in public schools and private homes.

Scott Clark and his wife, Grace, have served actively in pastoral work for 18 years. Grace Clark is also a recorded minister. How- ever, Mr. Clark has been a minister for 43 years.

The entire Clark family serve Christ in some phase of church work. Roy Clark is now ministering at the Vancouver Friends church. He also has a radio program, Preacher at the Piano, and directs music at the Friends' Lodge. He is no stranger to the GFC campus, having directed music here for six years.

Ruth Clark Corbin, their eldest daughter, directs the choir at the Friends church in Portland, while Wayne Clark, their eldest son, is a businessman in Wichita, Kansas.

Another familiar Clark name on the GFC campus is Lucy Clark, who has taught for four years in the English and drama departments of the college.

Now married to Alvin Anderson, she teaches at Cascade and, together with her husband, directs the choir at the First EUB church in Portland.

Mary Esther, GFC class of '49, is now Mrs. Heinie Seidel. The family live in Idaho where they are very active in church work.

The baby of the family, Lois Clark Smith, also resides in Idaho together with her husband, Claire, serves actively in their church. The Chehalem Friends church is Scott and Grace Clark's present church.

It is no wonder the Clark family is so musical. Scott Clark spends much of his spare moments fiddling around with his violin. "I play for my own amusement of course," he adds.

"My major hobby used to be tennis," Mr. Clark confides, "but due to circumstances beyond my control, I've had to give it up. Guess I'll have to take up golf or something."

About George Fox college, Mr. Clark says, "I've always enjoyed teaching with young people and I have found the students on this campus a very fine group of young people. I am very happy to be part of this school."

Professor Recipient of Novelist's Letter

Charles C. Haworth, instructor in Spanish, has in his possession the letter which he received in 1933 from A. Palacio Valdes.

Palacio Valdes, Valdes considered to be one of the most popular Spanish writers of the early years of this century.

While Mr. Haworth was teaching at Willamette university, he received a letter of congratulations on his 80th birthday, October 4, 1933. A reply was soon written in the handwriting of the list, which literally read as follows:

"I am very grateful for your spontaneous and appreciated congratulations, sends to you and to your able students a cordial greeting from the old writer, A. Palacio Valdes."

The second year Spanish class is reading a novel by Valdes entitled "Riverita" which is the story of Valdes' own love and marriage.

'What High Schools Expect of Teachers' Topic of Dean McNichols' Talk to FTA

The Future Teachers of America were entertained in the home of their sponsor, Professor Paul McNeely, Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Dean Donald McNichols was the guest speaker.

The topic of Mr. McNichols' talk was "What the High School Principals Expect of a Teacher." Mr. McNichols said, "A successful teacher must first summarize all that an education ought to be; then, second, he must become all of these things to his pupils."

He presented the qualities most wanted in a teacher in four points. One: A teacher who can be depended upon to supervise well those activities assigned to him. Two: A teacher who will sacrifice himself, if need be, to insure the well-being of the entire school program. Three: A teacher who knows people—the kind of people who compose the district. Four: A teacher whose appearance, outlook, awareness, and humanness endear him to the pupils.

The FTA recently elected Janet Hinshaw as secretary to replace Violet Richey who is not in school this semester.

Yvonne Hubbard was chosen nominee for the position of state secretary at the meeting held Tuesday, February 10.

Sports Spotlights

by Don Lamm

The talk of the basketball teams across the nation for the past few weeks has been the big scorer of the little Rio Grande college in Ohio. If you have been reading the sports section of your local newspaper, you will know that Bevo Francis, who stands 6' 9", has set a new scoring record for one night with 116 points. The president of the school said that this might have been the last year for the small school because of financial difficulties, but since Bevo has made his appearance the future is looking brighter. The gate receipts which amounted to about $20 in December has now increased to $4,800 for one night. Yes, you read it right. Let's get a big boy in our school. By the way, Rio Grande college has a total enrollment of about 92 students.

Don Lamm

Johnny O'Brien of Seattle university has made his 3,000th point but he still doesn't hold the nation's record. It was recently learned that the 500-odd points he scored as a freshman will not be counted. Too bad, Johnny!

The "Bales Boys" will be in full strength tonight as they face Oregon Dental school. It was feared that Verne Martin would not be able to play because of a knee injury suffered in last Saturday's game but he has responded to treatment and will be ready for action as the team takes the floor.

Balesmen to Meet Oregon Dentists In GF Gym Tonight

An inspired George Fox team will meet the University of Oregon Dental school tonight in Hester Memorial gymnasium at 8 p. m.

With only three conference games left in the year's schedule, the Quakers will try to partially make up their deficit by handing the Dentists another defeat. The most recent Quaker loss in conference play came with the 90-67 drubbing by Reed last Friday night.

Tonight's encounter will mark the second time the Quakers and Dentists have met this year.

Darwin "Cub" Grimm will probably be working in the forward slot again tonight. Grimm now leads the scoring in the Metropolitan league, having collected a total of 178 points made during regular conference games.

GF Club Sponsors Annual Tournament; Fifteen Valley Grade Schools Participate

February 26 will be the starting day of the annual grade school basketball tournament sponsored by the GF club. A ticket purchased at the admission price of 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for students will be good for the entire day's games.

Game time is 10:30 a. m. until 8 p. m. on Thursday and Friday. The first of Saturday's four championship games will begin at 5 p. m.

Verne Martin, junior, is managing the tournament with Clint Brown, sophomore, as assistant manager. Ralph Beebe will officiate as chief referee and Verne Martin, Dick Zeller, and Don Lamm are his helpers. Darrell Trueb has charge of the dressing rooms.

Schools participating in the tournament will be divided into two groups, the "A" schools and the "B" schools. Sheridan, Dayton, Jefferson, Willamina, Dallas, Oregon City, and Amity will compose the "A" Group, while Dundee, Chehalem Center, Lafayette, St. James, Yamhill, Grande Ronde, Oregon Deaf, and Gervais will constitute the entries in the "B" group. Other teams will probably be added to the "A" group before tournament play begins.

Grimm Paces Victory Over Multnomah; Brown, Hoskins Place Second in Points

Cub Grimm came through with 29 counters Saturday night, February 14, as the Quakers beat the Multnomah School of the Bible cagers 78-62 on the Concordia college floor.

Reed Trounces GF In Hoop Encounter

A slow-moving George Fox basketball team was over-run last Friday night at Reed college by the hard-driving Griffins, who piled up a 90-67 win over the Quakers.

The game was one-sided most of the way. The Quakers took an early lead with Grimm canning two points within the first two minutes of play. The Griffins soon caught up and for the first five minutes the score see-sawed back and forth. Then the Quakers pulled ahead again to a 17-10 point lead, the team's "high water mark," with three minutes to go in the first quarter.

The Quakers seemed to lose fire near the end of the first stanza and Reed began to close the gap. In the last minute of first-quarter play, the Griffins tied the score and then pulled ahead to a 21-18 point margin at the buzzer.

From then on the Griffins lead all the way, never getting in any serious trouble. Half-time score was 47-36 and the third quarter ended with a 71-47 score, a deficit of 24 points in the Quaker column. With the final buzzer, Reed walked off with a 90-67 victory.

High point man for the Quakers was "Cub" Grimm with an aggregate of 24 points. Runners-up were Martin and Brown with 11 counters each. Glen Wilcox, with 21 points, lead the Griffin onslaught, while not far behind was Dick Udell with 19 points.
